

We Are Gold.

It's folk in pop, from Andy Jones.

Andy Jones is finally back! with his third album 'We Are Gold'. Following on from his debut 'The road to Santiago' and 2007's 'From the son to the father', "We Are Gold" has been a long time coming but well worth the wait. 13 tracks of pure pop delivered in a contemporary folk style complete with acoustic guitars, mandolins, ukuleles, pianos and all manner of shakers, bells, whistles and drums.

Songs about love and everyday life, are delivered with a sense of humor and a poignant amount of honesty wrapped up with a sugary feel, that's perfect for long warm days and sure to leave listeners with a smile on their face.

Andy's recent live performances have shown a new sense of comfort and maturity on the stage and have brought in a host of new listeners who have been taken by Andy's unique cordiality.

Speaking about the album Andy admits:

"it's been a long gap between albums but the time wasn't spent idling, I've re learned the craft of song writing from the bottom up and believe it shows throughout this album, I've tried to give listeners an album without pretensions that gives the listener a break from their everyday troubles and lightens their mood... hopefully I've managed that'.
