

Lyndsey Ollard

Lyndsey Ollard is an English born recording artist who splits her time between the Australian Northern Beaches and her UK home. Lyndsey has always had a passion for singing and music and is now realising her life long dream. Critics are labelling her the "breakthrough" artist for 2010 and expect big things from this little lady.

She has been compared to the likes of Lily Allen and Natalie Imbruglia. "One Night Stand" her debut album is an eclectic and witty first effort, it ranges from tracks such as "wasted" a tongue in cheek pub anthem, through to the heartbreaking "too young to die" a tribute to a mulumbimby schoolboy who tragically lost his life.

Lyndsey wants her music to speak to all people, letting them know that they are never alone, be it in the ups or downs life throws our way she does this with a combination of catchy beats, haunting melodies and at times hilariously dry lyrics

For interviews contact:

Tom Mixer Management tmixer@gmail.com or Tel +61 412230 706

